

Issue 2/2021

World's forgotten fishes - vital for hundreds of millions of people, but one-third face extinction, warns new report

16 organisations and alliances just have published a report on the value of, and threats to freshwater fish species.

51% of all known species of fish live in freshwater - 18,075 species. And more are being discovered all the time.

