EU Taxonomy

Discussion in the media focus largely on whether nuclear energy and gas-powered stations should be designated "sustainable".¹ However, also for the water sector implementation of the EU Taxonomy Regulation will have considerable implications.

EWA News provides you an overview on what EU Taxonomy is, why we need Taxonomy and how the EU is defining green economic activities, plus links to relevant document.

¹ The issues of nuclear energy and gas-powered stations are the key reasons why the Commission Delegated Regulation concerning climate change mitigation is still under (extended) scrutiny by the Council (scrutiny period currently extended until 8.12.2021).
