The Danube Water Program enters phase 4

Launched ten years ago to promote smart policies, strong utilities and sustainable services throughout the Danube region, the Danube Water Program has made more than one big splash. The program's beneficial impact on the water service sector encouraged repeated extensions of its runtime, first in 2015, then in 2019, and now in December 2022, when Phase 4 saw its official launch. Which is good news for pretty much everybody in the region.
