

Issue 4/2023

Directive on Soil Monitoring and Resilience

Legislative proposal published 5 July 2023

Healthy soils are essential for achieving climate neutrality, a clean and circular economy and stopping desertification and land degradation. They are also essential to reverse biodiversity loss, provide healthy food and safeguard human health.

Following the EU soil strategy for 2030 and a public consultation, the legislative proposal for a Soil Monitoring and Resilience Directive has just been published.

EWA NEWS provides you an overview as well as links to the full documents including the impact assessment.